

I work in the LDD department (Educacion especial), with students with learning difficulties and/or behaviour problems. We are doing Skills for Working Life (vocational options like Carpentry or Beauty) plus Numeracy and Literacy. The average class size is 8 with at least a teacher and a member of the support staff there. We are introducing this year Citizenship and Spanish and we would like to link with a school/college in Spain to exchange students and investigate differences and similarities in the way they learn and live, plus cultural issues. It will be the first time we are doing this, so we are open to help and advice :)

We are looking for links with similar schools to exchange letters, emails, photos, ideas and information between pupils as well as staff. Our school is for pupils with physical disabilities and most have learning or communication difficulties and complex needs.

 Alderman Knight School, Tewkesbury, 826

Alderman Knight is a small special school for pupils with a range of learning difficulties. A significant number of our pupils have communication and interaction difficulties. We would like to be involved in a school project that would provide opportunities for our pupils to develop communication skills and gain a wider knowledge of the European Community.
